Dear Ms. Melbye,

Further to the recent request for submissions concerning continuing education for mortgage brokers and agents in Ontario I wanted to bring to your attention a course/program available through the Real Estate Institute of Canada. (www.reic.ca)

The designation upon successful completion of the course is: CRF (Certified in Real Estate Finance)

The designation requires applicants to successfully complete courses in Real Estate Investment Analysis, Ethics and Business Practice, Finance in the Real Estate Context and Elements of Mortgage Management.

The program entrance requirements; course components and outlines as well as related costs and course timeframes can be viewed on their website.

This program provides an enhancement to the educational requirements currently outlined under the MBLAA and I feel should be considered as one alternative in your efforts to extend continuing education of brokers and their agents.

I trust this will be of some assistance in your review.

Sincerely,

Chris Harris
